"FIRST TEST"
PRE-MATCH INTERVIEW (TV / RADIO FEED)

INTERVIEWER (V.O.):
"Coach Baker, opening match of the Western League. Away game. What are your expectations?"

COACH BAKER (measured, tired but sharp):
"Expectations? Survival. We're young. We're thin. But we're disciplined. If we stay organized and don't panic, we give ourselves a chance."

INTERVIEWER:
"Any surprises in the lineup?"

COACH BAKER:
"No surprises. Rookies learn first. Minutes come later."

(Camera cuts. Static.)

SCENE 1 — TRAINING: THE WAKE-UP
Morning. Training ground. The sound of cleats hitting dirt. Whistles. Shouting.

COACH BAKER:
"Line up! Shoulder to shoulder!"

(Players rush. Otto jogs into line, slightly out of breath.)

COACH BAKER:
"This week isn't about talent. It's about nerves. Tomorrow you walk into a stadium that eats players alive."
(He paces.)
"Sixty thousand people. Noise. Pressure. Cameras. You forget fundamentals, you disappear."
(He stops in front of the rookies.)
"For you new guys—this is an away match. One of the finalists from last year. They smell weakness."
(Coach locks eyes briefly with Otto, then moves on.)
"Bench players—pay attention. You don't get minutes by wanting them. You get minutes by being ready."
(Training begins. Sprints. Passing drills. Pressing.)

SYSTEM POP-UP (INVISIBLE TO CHARACTERS)
> STAMINA DRAIN UNLOCKED
> Intense training increases skill growth but drains Health and Energy
> ⚠ Otto feels unusually fatigued

(Otto finishes a sprint late. Hands on knees. He hides it.)

TEAMMATE (quietly):
"You good?"

OTTO (forcing a smile):
"Yeah. Just… morning legs."

(Whistle blows.)

SCENE 2 — THE LINEUP ANNOUNCEMENT
Locker room. The mood is tense.

COACH BAKER:
"Tomorrow's squad."
(He reads names. Starters first. Then subs.)
"...Herrera. Bench."

(Otto nods. Expected. Still stings.)

COACH BAKER:
"Be early. Be quiet. Watch everything."
(Meeting breaks.)

SCENE 3 — JENNY TEXTS
Night. Otto sits on his bed. Phone buzzes.

TEXT — JENNY:
"So… first league match tomorrow?"

OTTO (typing):
"Yeah. Away. Big stadium."

JENNY:
"Nervous?"

OTTO:
"Terrified."

JENNY:
"Good. Means you care."
(Pause.)
JENNY:
"Dinner tonight? Strictly ‘business.’"

OTTO:
"Business?"

JENNY:
"Catching up. No pressure."

(Otto hesitates.)

OTTO (internal):
Business dinner with my high school crush. Sure. Totally normal.

OTTO (text):
"Okay."

SCENE 4 — DINNER WITH JENNY
Small café. Dim lighting. Quiet.

JENNY (smiling, studying him):
"You look… different."

OTTO:
"Worse or better?"

JENNY:
"Realer."

(Otto laughs, surprised.)

OTTO:
"You were impossible to talk to in high school."

JENNY:
"Because I was popular?"

OTTO:
"No. Because I was scared."

(Jenny softens.)

JENNY:
"I wasn't as happy as I looked."
(Beat.)
OTTO:
"I thought you had everything."

JENNY:
"And I thought you were brave. Always running. Always trying."
(Silence. Comfortable.)
JENNY (CONT'D):
"So… soccer saved you?"

OTTO:
"It's the only place I forget everything else."

(Jenny nods, remembering that.)

SCENE 5 — MATCH DAY: THE STADIUM
Exterior. Massive stadium. Crowds roar.
Otto steps off the bus. He freezes.

OTTO (internal):
So many people…

SYSTEM POP-UP
> MENTAL PRESSURE ACTIVE
> Performance affected by crowd intensity

Locker room.

COACH BAKER:
"Listen. You hear that noise? That’s fear. Use it or let it crush you."

(Otto sits. Bench. Watching.)

SCENE 6 — THE MATCH
Kickoff. The opposing team dominates early. Westward struggles.

ANNOUNCER (V.O.):
"Westward looking overwhelmed in the opening minutes—"

(Otto watches every movement. Every mistake.)

SUBTLE FATIGUE WARNING
Otto rubs his leg. He ignores it.

Final whistle.
FINAL SCORE: Depends on simulation
Loss by 1 goal OR draw OR narrow win

POST-MATCH INTERVIEW

INTERVIEWER:
"Tough environment. Thoughts?"

COACH BAKER:
"We survived. That’s step one."

SCENE 7 — AFTERMATH
Bus ride home. Night.
Otto checks his phone.

TEXT — JENNY:
"You didn’t play."

OTTO:
"No."

JENNY:
"But you belonged there."

(Otto stares at the message.)

OTTO (internal):
Did I?

UNNUMBERED CHAPTER — "THE GOLDEN RETURN"
INT. SPORTS BROADCAST STUDIO – NIGHT

Bright lights. Polished desk. A massive screen behind the anchors shows highlights from last season — confetti, trophies, heartbreak.

ANCHOR:
"And with the new season underway, one name keeps dominating the conversation."

The screen cuts to QUINN LOPEZ.
Twenty-five. Calm. Confident. Not flashy — controlled. The kind of man who knows people are watching.

ANCHOR (CONT'D):
"Quinn Lopez. Formerly playing overseas, now back home with Norfield. Quinn — people were surprised when you returned. Why come back now?"

Quinn folds his hands, leans forward.

QUINN:
"Because last year wasn't supposed to end the way it did."

A clip plays — Norfield losing the final to their cross-town rivals. Quinn isn't on the field in that footage.

"I was watching from another country. Different league. Different money."

He exhales slowly.
"And I watched my city come one game short."

ANCHOR:
"You could've stayed abroad."

QUINN:
"I could've."
Beat.
QUINN (CONT'D):
"But some things matter more than comfort."

The screen switches to training footage — Norfield sharp, fast, disciplined.

ANCHOR:
"Norfield is projected to win it all this year."

Quinn smiles — small, controlled.

QUINN:
"We're not projected to win."
He looks straight into the camera.
QUINN (CONT'D):
"We're here to finish what we started."

UNNUMBERED CHAPTER — "MORGAN AND QUINN"
EXT. NORFIELD TRAINING FACILITY – AFTERNOON

Security gates slide open. Players file out, laughing, relaxed.
Morgan stands near the sidewalk, notebook tucked under her arm. She's trying to look casual — failing just a little.

Quinn steps out, talking to a teammate. He notices her hesitation.

QUINN:
"You waiting for someone?"

Morgan blinks, surprised.

MORGAN:
"Yeah. Kind of."

QUINN (smiling):

"That's usually my line."

She laughs despite herself.

MORGAN:
"I'm Morgan."

QUINN:
"Quinn."

They shake hands.

MORGAN:
"I watched the interview."

QUINN:
"The one where I tried not to sound arrogant?"

MORGAN:
"You didn't try very hard."

Quinn laughs — genuine.

QUINN:
"Fair."

They start walking.

MORGAN:
"People talk about you like you're a savior."

QUINN:
"That's dangerous."

MORGAN:
"Why come back, really?"

He thinks before answering.

QUINN:
"Because winning somewhere else didn't feel like winning."

He looks at her.

"And because this city doesn't get second chances."

Morgan nods, impressed.

MORGAN:
"Careful. That kind of thinking makes people follow you."

QUINN:
"I'm counting on it."

They stop at the corner.

MORGAN:
"I'll be at the games."

QUINN:
"I figured."

Their eyes linger a second too long.

UNNUMBERED CHAPTER — "THEY SAY IT OUT LOUD"
INT. WESTWARD LOCKER ROOM – NIGHT

The team crowds around the TV again. Same station. Different segment.
A RIVAL PLAYER from another club sits comfortably in a studio chair, arms crossed.

ANCHOR:
"You're facing Westward next."

Rival Player smirks.

RIVAL PLAYER:
"Yeah. We saw the schedule."

ANCHOR:
"Any concerns?"

The rival laughs.

RIVAL PLAYER:
"Concerns? No."

ANCHOR:

"Westward has been—"

RIVAL PLAYER (cutting him off):
"Look, let's stop pretending."

The room goes quiet.

"Westward doesn't have discipline. They don't have structure. Their people don't value work."

Anchor shifts uncomfortably.

"They live off benefits. Handouts. And when things don't go their way, they blame the system."

ANCHOR:
"Some would argue—"

RIVAL PLAYER:
"Argue what?"
He shrugs.
"It's cultural. Maybe even genetic."

The clip ends.
Silence.

JAX:
"...Did he just say genetic?"

CALEB:
"They always do eventually."

Otto stands and turns off the TV.

OTTO:
"They don't see us as opponents."

He looks around the room.

OTTO (CONT'D):
"They see us as proof."

MATEO:

"Of what?"

OTTO:
"Of who they think deserves to win."

He grips the locker door.

OTTO (CONT'D):
"So we take that belief."
Beat.
OTTO (CONT'D):
"And we break it."

UNNUMBERED CHAPTER — "DINNER"
INT. MEI LING'S FAMILY APARTMENT – NIGHT

A small kitchen. Clean, but tired.

The door opens.
Her father steps in — shoulders heavy, face lined with exhaustion.

MEI LING:
"Dad?"

He forces a smile.

FATHER:
"Sorry I'm late."

MOTHER:
"You're always late now."

He sets his bag down carefully.

FATHER:
"There was... an issue."

They sit.

MEI LING:
"What kind of issue?"

He hesitates.

FATHER:
"I spoke up."

Mother's eyes narrow.

MOTHER:
"You did what?"

FATHER:
"They were blaming a worker for something he didn't do."

MEI LING:
"And?"

FATHER:
"And now I've been reassigned."

Silence.

MOTHER:
"Reassigned... or demoted?"

He doesn't answer.

MEI LING:
"How bad?"

FATHER (quiet):
"One more step down and I'm out of the inner circle completely."

Mother exhales sharply.

MOTHER:
"You know what that means."

MEI LING:
"What?"

MOTHER:
"It means your options shrink."

MEI LING:
"Mom—"

MOTHER:
"You're turning twenty-five."

Mei Ling stiffens.

MOTHER (CONT'D):
"You need stability. Protection."

MEI LING:
"You mean marriage."

Her father looks away.

A phone buzzes on the table.
Her father glances at it — freezes.

MEI LING:
"What is it?"

FATHER:
"...A reminder."

MEI LING:
"For what?"

He swallows.

FATHER:
"For the loan."

MOTHER:
"The one for her education?"

Father nods.

MEI LING:
"I didn't ask for that."

FATHER:
"You earned it."

Mei Ling's breath quickens.

MEI LING:
"I came back because I had to. Not because I failed."

MOTHER:
"And now we pay the price."

Mei Ling stands abruptly.

MEI LING:
"So what, I marry whoever will take me?"

Her voice cracks.

MEI LING (CONT'D):
"I didn't study my whole life to become a solution to debt."

Her mother reaches for her.

MOTHER:
"Mei Ling—"

Mei Ling pulls away, overwhelmed.

MEI LING:
"I can't breathe."

They move closer, holding her between them.
Outside, the city hums — indifferent.

CHAPTER 4 — "BEGINNER'S LUCK"
SCENE 1 — LOCKER ROOM AFTER THE MATCH

The locker room smells like sweat, disinfectant, and disbelief.
Someone laughs too loudly. Someone else shouts. A towel gets thrown across the room.

They won.
Not pretty. Not dominant. But real.
Westward win — Opponent loses.

Otto sits on the bench, still in his kit, pulse slowing. He didn't play much—late minutes—but he was on the field when the final whistle blew.

POST-MATCH INTERVIEW
INTERVIEWER:
"Another strong performance. People are starting to say your name. How do you handle that?"
OTTO (careful):
"I don't think about names. I think about tomorrow."
(Crowd murmurs approvingly.)

SCENE 4 — CITY NIGHT (AFTERMATH)
Neon lights. Glass towers. A city that feels unreal.
TEAMMATE_1:
"This place doesn't sleep."
TEAMMATE_2:
"This place doesn't forgive either."
(They laugh, nervous.)
TEAMMATE_1:
"One drink."
Otto hesitates.
OTTO:
"One."

SCENE 5 — THE CLUB
Small club. Music low enough to talk.
Otto bumps into someone.
OLIVIA:
"Oh—sorry."

 # She looks up. Recognizes him. She laughs.

 # SCENE START
 # Location: Outside a stylish club in Westward — late evening
 # Atmosphere: Neon lights, distant city hum, cool night air. Otto steps outside to escape the loud music, pulling out his phone.

OTTO (to himself, quietly):
"Was she looking at me or just… looking around?"
 # He scrolls through his phone, then leans against the wall, exhaling slowly.

OLIVIA (voice from behind, calm, amused):
"You look tired."

 # Otto turns, surprised.
OTTO:
"Oh—hey. Yeah, these games… they're more than just skill."

OLIVIA (smiling softly):
"You're a really good player. Your team's doing well — first time in 50 years, I heard."

OTTO (blinks, surprised):
"You watch my games? You know who I am?"

OLIVIA:
"Yeah, you're Otto. It's like you're catching on really quick around Weston."

OTTO:
"Wait, you know me? I didn't even know people outside Westward watched us."

 # He looks away, slightly flustered.
OLIVIA:
"Are you a little shy? I've seen you around. You're… getting famous. Like an underdog story famous. Maybe more than the rich or the models in Weston."

OTTO (laughs softly):
"No, no. You're the model. You're very beautiful."

OLIVIA (smiles warmly):
"Let me help you — don't be shy. Just be yourself."

 # She gestures toward a quieter spot down the street.
OLIVIA (CONT'D):
"Walk with me? I need to get some of these tacos from that food stand for my friend."

OTTO:
"Ok. Tacos sound good actually."

 # [GLOBAL_EFFECTS] relationship_olivia += 1

 # SCENE — FUTURE FORESHADOWING (POLISHED & ELEVATED)

OLIVIA (halting, at the food stand then turning to face him):
"You know, in the capital, they instill it in us from childhood about how to think in life. They make us watch soccer matches in school, and then they impart a lesson far beyond the sport."

OTTO:
"What lesson?"

OLIVIA (her gaze drifting thoughtfully):
"That the game is never confined to the field."
 # She pauses, weighing each word.
OLIVIA (CONT'D):
"Often, the most decisive moves are the invisible ones. The ones executed in silence, when you believe no one is watching."
 # Another pause, her voice lowering.
"Be mindful of the squares upon which you choose to land."

OTTO:
"What are you implying?"

OLIVIA (a faint, enigmatic smile):
"Steer clear of the observers. Remain alert for openings."
 # Her eyes meet his, her expression inscrutable.
OLIVIA (CONT'D):
"You strike me as someone who understands the value of moving without sound."

OTTO (looking down, tone self-effacing):
"I'm not particularly good at anything, it seems."

OLIVIA:
"You'll comprehend it in time… provided your intentions remain true."

OTTO:
"What are you suggesting? I don't consider myself a bad person."

OLIVIA:
"I never said you were."

OTTO:
"Then why share all of this with me?"

OLIVIA (leaning in slightly, her voice softer):
"I appreciate football for reasons that transcend the spectacle. And you… you appear to be playing for something greater than yourself."

OTTO (shaking his head, defensively):
"Truthfully, I'm playing for myself. To provide for my sisters. I'm uncertain whether I should concern myself with others… I was left to care for my siblings. Forming connections has never been a strength. I don't believe I should worry about other people when I've always been alone. Always lagging behind… in perception, in understanding."

 # Olivia observes him, her expression softening.
OLIVIA:
"Otto… that quiet voice within you can be deceptive. You must learn to trust in yourself. I perceive something different in you."

OTTO (quietly):
"What do you see?"

OLIVIA:
"I've watched football since I was a child. I've never seen a team play quite like yours. There's a certain… conviction in your team's style. You guys play free and it describes the way Westward people live and their dreams they see in y'all."

OTTO:

"I am just beginning to know my teammates. They seem like nice people. I'm unsure if true bonds form quickly… but I will endeavor to contribute to the team. As I said… trust does not come easily to me."

OLIVIA (nodding slowly):
"I understand. Simply remember… not every observer is an adversary. Some of us are merely waiting to witness what you become."

OLIVIA (after a contemplative silence):
"Why do you harbor such doubt in yourself?"

OTTO (his voice low, vulnerable):
"What if I falter? What if I am merely… what they always said I was? That I would amount to nothing. That my surname is different. That I am weird. That I am simply… inadequate."

OLIVIA (gentle yet resolute):
"Listen to me. So long as you devote yourself entirely—authentically and completely—and leverage every resource your club now affords you… the nourishment, the training, the visibility… and you depart with no remorse when all is concluded… that is what signifies. That you offered everything."
 # Her eyes hold his, earnest and wise.
"That endeavor will not haunt you in later years. When you are elsewhere—with grandchildren, a spouse, in retirement reflecting upon your life—you will be able to affirm that you withheld nothing from the pitch. Not your talent, not your passion, not your opportunity. And that… that constitutes a life lived without regret."

OTTO (after a moment, softly):
"Why don't they teach us that in the schools in Westward?"

OLIVIA (her smile subtle, knowing):
"That, right there, is precisely why you must continue to play."

 # She turns to leave, then glances back a final time.

 # They sit.
OLIVIA:
"So. Soccer boy in the city."

OTTO:
"I don't live anywhere like this."

OLIVIA:
"I do. Trust me—it gets boring."
 # (Beat.)
OTTO:
"You don't sound bored."

OLIVIA:
"That's because I pretend."
 # (She studies him.)
"You don't pretend well."

OTTO:
"I don't know how."
 # (She nods. Respect.)

 # SCENE 7 — QUIET MOMENT
OLIVIA:
"People see athletes like trophies but they're just false idols… but they give people confidence to look for a better life, while the rich keep the cripples and sheep down.."

OTTO:
"I just want to keep winning. I just want…."

OLIVIA (A pause.):
"A visa?"

OTTO:
"Happiness, but I need money and a visa wouldn't hurt right now. Who am I to give people hope? I'm lost."

OLIVIA:
"You should pray, and keep your heart pure. Haha."
(A pause.)
"Enjoy the city while it's kind to you. Things will change quickly… .everything does. Well, I need to get back to my friends. Thanks for the company. I must go back inside the club."

OLIVIA:
"Goodnight, Otto. Take care of yourself… and your sisters."
